Plea Bargaining Simplified

Many people do not fully understand the meaning of "plea bargaining"—the rather simplistic approach to the more complex criminal justice system courtroom ritual where guilt or innocence is determined under strict standards.

San Diego County's 76th District Assemblyman Bill Craven produced a column last week in which the controversial plea bargaining practice is discussed in easy-to-understand language.

Says Craven:

"The term 'plea bargaining' is used to describe two different activities. The first, which we call 'charge bargaining,' takes place when the prosecutor, the accused, and his attorney discuss possible charges. If an agreement is reached, the prosecutor modifies the accusation in accordance with the agreement, and the defendant pleads guilty, eliminating the need for a trial.

"The second activity, sentencing bargaining, looks to the sentence to be imposed for the crime. Because a direct approach to the judge is improper, the accused makes an agreement with the prosecutor on an appropriate sentence in the event of a guilty plea. The judge then must decide between accepting the plea with its limitations on his sentencing discretion or rejecting the plea and forcing the case to trial.

"Since 1970, plea bargaining has been accepted in legal circles as a legitimate 'shortcut' to justice. Most legal scholars point out that plea bargaining often eliminates the need for long and costly trial procedures. Since many alleged criminals are guilty of the crimes they are accused of, the institution of plea bargaining has given them the opportunity to expedite their legal problems quickly, and helped them to insure that they receive the lightest possible penalty for their crimes.

"But it is exactly this reasoning that has fueled the fires of controversy over plea bargaining. Many people, both inside and outside the legal profession, believe that such 'shortcuts' actually weaken our system of justice, and reduce public confidence in it. The benefits of such bargains, lesser punishment in exchange for the elimination of a full-fledged trial, may save taxpayers money, and reduce prison sentences, but do not provide the public with the certain knowledge that justice is being done.

For this reason, the State Attorney General, Evelle Younger, has issued a position paper on plea bargaining, and has suggested that legislation eliminating the practice be enacted in the near future. The position paper, which resulted from a comprehensive study of plea bargaining in California, asserts that abolition of plea bargaining, rather than the continuation of the practice, will actually increase public confidence in the criminal justice system, boost respect for the law, and act as a deterrent to further crimes.

According to the study, plea bargaining does not increase the "citrafiness of a defendant," as has been claimed by the proponents of the practice. In fact, such bargains often tear down the criminals respect of the law, since they give him the opportunity to avoid full punishment for his wrongdoing. Further, the report dispenses with the notion that elimination of plea bargaining would result in fewer guilty pleas being entered, and more courtroom trials. Instead, the report states that expediency and efficient administration do not necessarily rely on plea bargaining; our faith in the criminal justice system depends not on the efficiency of the system, but its fairness and equal application of the law.

"For these reasons, Attorney General Younger has suggested that the Legislature begin studying methods to eliminate plea bargaining once and for all. According to the Attorney General, . . . any form of plea bargaining . . . should be abandoned. The cost of sentence bargaining in terms of public confidence in the criminal justice system, the quality of the decision on guilt and sentence, and in compromising the role of the trial judge is not worth the relatively small increase in . . . guilty pleas."

"To this end, the Attorney General has suggested repealing Penal Code section 112.5, which gives statutory authority for plea bargaining, and prohibiting the court from engaging in any discussions or consideration of probation or sentence in a criminal action prior to the determination of the guilt of the defendant. Such legislation has already been introduced by Senator Carpenter and is now pending in the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee.

"It would insure that our tradition of trial by jury is never justified on the basis of cost efficiency, and go a long way toward restoring the faith of the people of California in our criminal justice system."

A Small Step for Deflation

With all the signs pointing to continued inflation, we became heartened a few days ago when we saw a reversal of the trend. Small though it may be, it is one of the first services to be reduced—and the cut was a hefty 33 1/3 per cent.

The cut made was on the public copying machine at Marder's Stationers on Broadway where copies are now a dime. The copier at the Post Office remains at 15 cents.

In times like these, folks, we grasp at any little straw.

Armed Robbers Take $1,000 From Lemon Grove Deli

Two white males, each about 21, are reported to have robbed Lavicio's Deli of $1,000 in cash about 2:30 a.m. July 19.

Sheriff's deputies, investigating the crime reported that the pair, driving a white Baja bug, ordered the deli's night clerk — John Anthony Rossi, 19 — to give them the cash. One carried a shotgun.

They took the store keys from the register and locked the front door. Rossi was then tied with a white rope and put into the store's restroom after one suspect said to the other, "tie him with that rope, Larry, he's a big dude."

Rossi said the suspect with the gun had put it to his stomach and demanded the rest of the cash. When Rossi denied having any, the robber then pulled the trigger. When the gun clicked the robber said, "We don't load our guns because we get too rowdy."

Also missing is an 8-track AM/FM stereo with speakers.

SV College Coming In Spite of Voters

The Grossmont Community College Board of Trustees has levied a 10-cent per $100 assessed value tax on district property owners to help pay for the first phase of construction for the new Cuyamaca College, east of Spring Valley.

The 10-cent tax is for one year, but will likely be renewed.

The tax means a $40 annual bite out of the income of a homeowner with an assessed value of $40,000.

Acting under the provisions of the Community College Construction Act of 1967 (section 20080 of the state Education Code), the board made the levy without the need for voter consent.

Open-Ended

"It's an open-ended law," explained Dr. Ed Krehbiel, director of research and development for the community college district.

"The board could have raised the tax as much as $1 (per $100 assessed value), if it wanted to," he said.

As it is, Krehbiel said, the building schedule for the construction of the $40 million campus has been extended several years.

But the first phase should meet its original opening projection: Fall 1978, according to Krehbiel.

The District decided to execute its Construction Act tax-levying power as the only viable alternative to two possible sources for funding for its new campus.

The other is a bond issue ballot item which the board felt would certainly meet with failure, Krehbiel said.

A statewide bond issue on the June 8 ballot called for $150 million in bonds for community college construction and maintenance. Voters in California turned that down by a vote of 2.3 million for, 2.9 against.

The new campus is designed to relieve overcrowding at Grossmont Community College' El Cajon campus. Cuyamaca will open as a vocational-technical junior college, leaving the El Cajon campus for liberal arts oriented curricula.

Krehbiel said the first phase of building should open in 1978 with minimum facilities.

Failure of Proposition 4 motivated planners to scrap a building trade wing, transportation (automotive) wing, and an agricultural department from the first phase plans.

Recreation and social facilities will likely be temporary structures or trailers, he said.

Phase 1 will offer complete general education classes to fulfill freshman requirements, including physical education.

Planners have determined that the drafting program, electronics and engineering and computer technology departments presently at Grossmont College will be moved to Cuyamaca College when it opens.

Although the local building project ranks tops in the state community college building program, the local tax increase is needed to pay for a third of the share of building costs, Krehbiel said.

"We're a relatively poor district, tax base-wise," he said. That allows for the 1/3-2/3 cost split. More typical breakdown would be 1/2 state funds, 1/2 local funds," he said.

Girl, 12, is Hit-Run Victim

A Lemon Grove girl was critically injured Tuesday by a hit-and-run driver on Mt. Vernon st. near Hardy, in Lemon Grove.

Brenda Lee Marchand, 12, of 2112 Glencoe dr., was struck by an apparently stolen vehicle as she walked along the shoulder of the road.

She sustained skull and internal injuries and was listed in critical condition at Grossmont Hospital at press time.

Law enforcement officials said a juvenile suspect, 16, was arrested Tuesday and that a second suspect, 20, was being sought.

The young girl is a member of the Lemon Grove Bobby Sox League.

The accident was still under investigation at press time.

A CHP officer said Marchand was walking with a friend on Mt. Vernon at 4:45 p.m., Tuesday, when a 1970 Ford passenger car crossed over the street and struck the victim from behind.

The vehicle did not stop, the officer said.

About four hours later, a 16-year-old suspect was in custody.

At press time, the girl's condition remained critical and the 20-year-old suspect was still at large.

Mechanics' Tools Taken

Tools valued at $400 were removed from the pickup truck belonging to Erwin A. Bush, a mechanic who lives at 3005 Bancroft st., Spring Valley.

Bush had parked his Datsun at his residence about 4:30 p.m. July 19 and was in his home when the loss occurred.

Chicken Sandwich, Anyone?

The popular KGB Chicken will make an appearance at the Super Sandwich, 7882 Broadway in Lemon Grove at 6 p.m., Saturday, July 31. The Super Sandwich is continuing their Grand Opening Festivities with the arrival of the chicken, who represents radio station KGB.

Comment Sought on Two LG School Issues

The public is invited to speak at either or both of two hearings to be held at Tuesday's Lemon Grove School District Board of Education meeting. It begins at 7:30 p.m. at the Lemon Grove Education Center, 8025 Lincoln st. at Kempf.

The governing board will hear public comment on both the District's operating budget for the new school year and the negotiating proposal for Lemon Grove school teachers (certificated employees).

Both the budget and the proposal may be reviewed at the Education Center during business hours.

In addition, a copy of the teachers' proposal is available at the offices of this newspaper. A detailed breakdown of the budget is printed in the legal ad section of this newspaper (page 7).

Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce

Carnival May Recoup Losses For Old Time Days Projects

A carnival on the Lemon Grove Junior High school grounds may be the vehicle to pull the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce and its Old Time Days Committee out of the deficit column.

That was a major subject Thursday at the monthly meeting of the L.G. Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

FOOTBALL PROJECT — Lemon Grove Lions club official Bob Russell displays some of the 10,000 Aztec-Fullerton football game tickets (October 23 - 7:30 p.m.) Lions club members of San Diego and Imperial county will sell ($5-$6). Proceeds will go to a football scholarship (SDSU) and to the Lions club's local sight and hearing projects. The project is for 10,000 tickets a year for five years. The added attendance will attract better football teams when the Aztecs go independent, it is believed.

The carnival is scheduled to open and run full-tilt August 25-29. The same carnival played shortly before the Old Time Days celebration earlier this year during a rainy period. In spite of adverse weather, it provided a profit of about $800 to the OTD organization.

Where the group got into trouble was with a horse show, an OTD Committee sponsored event in Jamul. The OTD parade proper is expected to lose about $800 a year. Profit from the carnival usually offsets the loss. The horse show was scheduled to produce a profit of $1,500 but unexpected expenses and poor attendance created a $900 loss.

The horse show was to be used as a money-maker after the carnival turned the chamber down because of a conflict in dates.

Later, the carnival found an open date but the OTD Committee had already been committed to the horse show.

Incorporation

With the financial problem on the way to resolution and out of the way, Jim Dorman, co-chairman of the Lemon Grove Incorporation Committee, reported that LAFCO (Local Agency Formation Commission) had approved Highway 94 as the north boundary of the proposed City of Lemon Grove for a March election. An area near Mt. Miguel High school known as Blossom Hill, previously excluded from the boundaries, is now being included, he said.

He said the Vista La Mesa-La Mesa annexation election would be held in November. If that issue fails to carry, the Lemon Grove boundary would be moved north to include Vista La Mesa in time for the Lemon Grove election in March. No additional hearings will be required, he said.

Residents of VLM north of Pearson are in an awkward position regarding fire protection, he noted. Unless the area annexes to La Mesa or San Diego, or becomes part of Lemon Grove by the incorporation process, it will be without fire protection, Dorman said. The southern part of VLM is already in the L.G. Fire District.

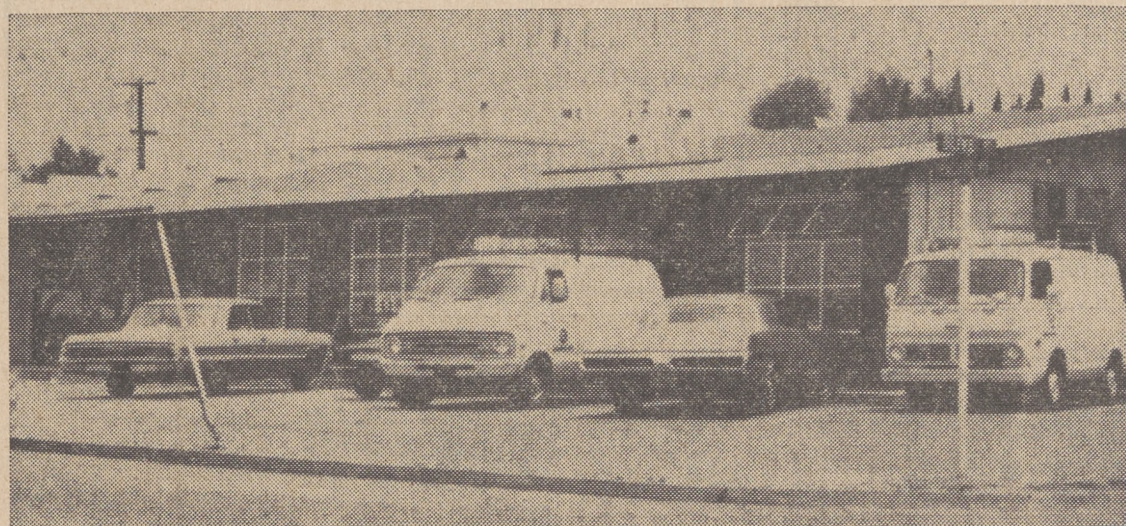

Signs

Olin Thompson reported on the status of the county sign ordinance and won a hearing stay of 30 days before the Planning Commission. He was representing the L.G. CoC; his own business, and the United Business Commission regarding blinking and rotating signs on which the limitation for removal was being reduced from five years to one.

CHP

California Highway Patrol Officer Benny Price discussed the growing disregard for the national 55 mph speed limit. "In the east county the average speed is 63 mph," he said.

OUTGROWN — The County library branch at the corner of Pacific and Olive sts. has become too small to serve its community growing population, according County officials. The 3,500 sq. ft. facility will be replaced by a building nearly three times its size. It will be leased by the county from a new shopping center development to be built at the southwest corner of Washington st. and Broadway.

Part of New Shopping Center

New Library on the Way for LG

The Lemon Grove branch of the County Library will move to a new location soon, it was decided this month by the County Board of Supervisors.

The old facility, leased for the past 18 years, has become too small to serve the neighborhood.

It is a mere 3200 to 3500 sq. ft., according to head librarian Mrs. Neale Clifford. She said the new facility will offer three times the space and plenty of room for expansion.

The County will lease a 9,000 sq. ft. building to be constructed as part of a new shopping center complex planned for the southwest corner of Broadway at Washington st., across from St. John of the Cross Catholic Church.

Property owner Arthur Becker of Los Angeles said he intends to build a small shopping center around the library on the 3 1/2 acres bound by Broadway, Washington, Golden avenue and the Dairy Queen property line.

The complex could open as early as the first months of 1977, barring construction delays, the developer said.

Los Angeles architect Herbert Nadel is designing the facility.

Virtually all phases of the present library will be expanded when the move takes place, Clifford said.

The library is already accumulating books, materials and equipment to stockpile for use in the new building, she said.

One addition on hand but not in use is a microfilm reader which will be used for old newspapers and periodicals.

"The machine is there," Clifford said, "but we have no films, yet."

The community is mistaken if it thinks the present library branch is for children only.

"A lot of people think that," she said.

The Pacific ave. branch has a popular adult non-fiction section and a reference section with most of the well-known encyclopedias, newspapers and periodicals. These will be expanded in the new building.

The library will also increase its "business tools," (business oriented literature, films and reference material).

Regular pre-school and children's series will continue in the new building, Clifford promised.

Some of the more popular attractions, such as puppet shows and films, draw an audience of 150 to 200, the librarian said.

The new facility will have a 1,000 sq. ft. multi-purpose room which will isolate the pre-school and other special programs from the library room.

The special attractions have been held in the library itself and have sometimes created a disturbance to visitors.

The new room will likely allow for the continuation of special lectures and workshops for adults. Most are outreach programs sponsored by Grossmont Community College's Office of Community Services.

No programs have been scheduled for adults for at least six months, Clifford said, "because there simply is no room."

The head librarian said that the new building cannot arrive soon enough.

The neighborhood population served by the branch has grown from less than 10,000 25 years ago to an estimated 27,000 today.

Hillside Church To Open Vacation Bible Sessions

Vacation Bible School is scheduled for next week at nearby Windsor Baptist Church, 7485 Orien ave., in La Mesa. Sessions from 9 to 11:30 a.m. are planned August 2 through 6.

The school is open to all children in the Kindergarten through sixth grade age range.

Bible stories, singing, games and handcraft are among the activities planned.

Interested parents may call the church at 463-1201, according to Pastor Eldon Seibold.

Parents, Kids Share Museum Nature Walk

A parent-child nature walk along the beach at Torrey Pines has been scheduled for Saturday, August 7 by the San Diego Natural History Museum.

The morning walk will include exploration of the sandy beach environment, the discovery of the animals which live under the sand, and a demonstration of sand casting.

The event is reserved for children under 10 and their parents and is limited to 20 children. The fee is $1.50 each. A parent must accompany each child.

Grove Witness Spokesman Announces LA Convention

Carl E. Jones, spokesman of the Lemon Grove Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, revealed completion of plans for a four-day district convention of the religious group in Inglewood, today through August 1.

Jones said 30,000 delegates are anticipated to attend the annual convention planned at the Hollywood Park race track. A total of 150 persons will represent Lemon Grove at the seminar.

Theme of the conference is "Sacred Service" and the program "will address itself to improving life spiritually within the family circle," Jones said.

Minister to Mark 50th Wedding Anniversary

The fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Chase will be celebrated Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Westwood Hills Christian church in Los Angeles.

The Rev. Mr. Chase was minister of the Lemon Grove Christian church on San Miguel st. until he "retired again" about five years ago. He was succeeded by the Rev. Michael Maxson, who, himself, leaves the church this week to take on new duties as director of development at the San Jose Bible College.

The ceremony is sponsored by the couple's children.

"There will be specific information for husbands, wives and young people," he said, "designed to examine the problems confronting society

New Pastor at Friends Church Due Friday

Members of the Friends Church at Bancroft and Kenwood in Spring Valley are preparing for the arrival of their new pastor, Robert Farris.

Farris, his wife Beth, and their two daughters, Tricia Lynn, 4, and Christy Beth, 3, will arrive Friday from Walden, Michigan. They plan to live in the parsonage on church property. The new pastor will conduct his first worship service at the church on Sunday.

Farris is a graduate of Friends Bible College at Marion, Indiana. He served as an associate minister at the Marian Friends Church four years and has pastored churches in Taylor and Walden, Michigan.

He plans to continue his graduate studies at Point Loma College after settling in Spring Valley.

Hosts Sought for French Students

Host families are needed for a group of French students who will be living in the United States during the month of August.

The students, ages 14-20, will arrive in California August 1, it was announced by the Pacific Intercultural Exchange, a non-profit corporation operating a student exchange program under State Department guidelines.

The program places students in average American homes, providing for them the opportunity to acquire a better understanding of the country and its customs and to attain greater proficiency in the English language.

Families may obtain applications by phoning 225-0262.

today and suggesting concrete solutions to overcome them."

Jones added that the program will feature Bible lectures, symposiums, discussion periods and four Bible dramas, to be presented in full costume.

The principal speaker of the convention is E. R. Brandt of New York, who will answer the question, "Will Serving God Solve Your Problems?" The talk is scheduled for Sunday at 2 p.m.

Workshop to Speedup Housing for Elderly

An all day workshop designed to stimulate the production of housing for the elderly in San Diego County will be held August 18.

San Diego County's Office of Senior Citizens Affairs is coordinating the workshop which will involve members of the construction industry, the financial community, and public and private planners.

Representatives of the S.D. Building Contractors Assn., the Associated General Contractors, the Construction Industry Coordinating Council, the S.D. County Housing Authority, the League of Women Voters, and personnel from local savings and loans, banks, investment firms, and government agencies will participate.

Rather than addressing the well documented problem of the lack of adequate housing for local seniors, the emphasis of the workshop will be placed upon providing information about solutions that have proven successful. A long-range objective of the workshop will be to break the existing log-jam.

The three basic areas to be covered during the workshop will be markets, projects, and financing.

The all day event will be held at the Cafe Del Rey Moro in Balboa Park Aug. 18 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Michael J. Peters of Ahlgren, Peters & Associates is chairman of the workshop planning committee.

DICKER TABLE — To remove a discontinued line of merchandise, Ed Gumkowski, owner of the new Gumbo's Deli, has set up a "dicker table" with an array of items from maple syrup to shoe polish. Miss Lemon Grove Mary Jo Byrne haggles with Gumkowski over price of syrup. Customers can bargain the clerk down from the marked price, he said.

Twenty-three per cent of all households on the program had gross incomes above the poverty level effective at that time.

Sixty-four per cent of the households were headed by a woman.

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local U.S. Internal Revenue Service office and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The questions are those most frequently asked IRS.

Q. Because of an injury, I missed 40 days of work. The sick pay I received during this time equalled my normal weekly pay. Can I exclude this sick pay from my income?

A. Generally, whether sick pay may be excluded from income depends on the rate of the sick pay for the first 30 days of absence. In a case like yours, in which sick pay is more than 75 per cent of normal weekly pay, you must be out of work at least 30 days to exclude any sick pay from your income. So your 40-day absence qualifies you to exclude the sick pay received after the first 30 days.

When the sick pay is less than or equal to 75 per cent of normal pay the sick pay is excludable from the first day if you are hospitalized, and after seven days if not hospitalized.

For more information on sick pay deductions, see IRS Publication 522, "Adjustments To Income For Sick Pay."

Q. I took two days off from my two weeks vacation trip to attend a district sales meeting in the city I was visiting. Are any of my expenses deductible as business expenses?

A. Any expenses directly attributable to the business conducted during the two days may be claimed as a business expense deduction. However, since the trip was primarily a vacation, none of your travel expense, including meals and lodging, is deductible as business expense.

You should back up any business deduction claims with receipts and detailed notes of what you spent, where, and for what business transaction.

Q. My wife and I have a joint savings account. How do we divide the interest for taxes?

A. If two or more persons hold savings accounts, bonds or other interest-producing investments jointly, local law determines what share of the interest each receives. You and your wife should report your respective shares of interest in the same way you report other income.

This Week's RECIPE

Christmas Cake is Picnic Treat

Don't wait until Christmas to try this unusual German bread. Stollen, colby cheese, radishes, fresh apricots, cherries and a thermos of frothy cold milk make for perfect picnic fare.

GERMAN CHRISTSOULEN

1/2 cup butter, cold
3 cups regular all-purpose flour
3 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp salt
1 cup corn flake or cracker crumbs
1 cup sliced almonds
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla flavoring
1/2 cup milk or rum
1 cup creamed cottage cheese
2/3 cup granulated sugar
1 1/2 cups seedless raisins
1/4 cup chopped candied lemon peel (optional)
Butter, melted
1 1/2 cups sifted confectioner's sugar.

Cut the cold butter into thin slices. Place in refrigerator until needed.

In large bowl, stir together flour, baking powder, salt, crumbs, and almonds. Set aside.

In medium-size mixing bowl, beat eggs until foamy. Add vanilla, 1/4 cup of the milk, cottage cheese, granulated sugar, raisins and candied lemon peel. Mix well.

Make well in center of flour mixture. Pour in egg mixture. With fingers, work liquid mixture into about half of the dry ingredients. Add sliced butter. Continue working butter and liquid ingredients into flour mixture until well combined. Dough will be stiff.

Place dough in lightly floured surface. Roll to form an oval 3/4-inch thick, 9 inches wide and 12 inches long. With rolling pin, lightly crease dough just off center, parallel to the 12-inch side. Brush with melted butter. Fold smaller section over larger section pressing sections together firmly. Brush top with additional melted butter. Place on ungreased baking sheet.

Bake in oven at 325° about an hour or until golden brown. Remove from oven. Place on cooling rack, if desired.

While bread is cooling, stir together confectioner's sugar and the remaining 1/4 cup milk. Drizzle sugar mixture evenly over warm bread. Store tightly wrapped in aluminum foil at room temperature for 3 or 4 days, or frozen, for several weeks.

Eat and Grow Younger

Reverse the Popular Trend: Make Breakfast the Day's Biggest Meal

By Lelord Kordel

Number Twenty-Two of a Series

For years you've been assured that "life begins at forty." And so it does—if your middle years are protected from the serious ailments that often sneak in with the 40th birthday. But I doubt if you've given much thought to the fact that youth begins at breakfast.

I consider breakfast the most important meal of the day. For me it is always a high-protein meal, with little or no starch of any kind. There's a solid nutritional basis for this.

My breakfast menu sometimes causes comments among my fellow breakfasters whenever I am away from home. I remember one morning in the dining room of a Pittsburgh hotel when I ordered sliced oranges, two broiled lamb chops, and a cube of cheese for my breakfast. The waitress repeated the order as though I had ordered hummingbird tongues.

Cannibal's Breakfast!

But the weary-looking couple at the table next to mine evidently didn't agree with my choice of breakfast. For, as the waitress placed the platter of nicely browned chops in front of me, I heard the woman murmur to her husband, "Disgusting! A regular cannibal's breakfast." And then she and her husband smugly downed their own all-starch breakfast of a patented cereal, sweet roll and coffee.

Yet I'll wager that around 11 o'clock that morning I had body, and the best-controlled nerves of the three. And all because I had the foresight to supply my mind and body with the type of food — high protein — that assures the most nourishment for muscles, nerves and brain cells.

Although you may not have realized it, your disposition — your "mood" — for the day is largely determined by the kind of breakfast you eat. A high-starch breakfast starts you out for the day with your appetite temporarily appeased, yet with your digestive tract laboring under the burden of a lot of gooey food that probably will have you belching before you leave the table.

A light breakfast of fruit juice, toast and coffee is not sufficient nourishment to carry the hungry body (remember, you've not eaten for nearly 12 hours when you sit down to the breakfast table) through a morning's work with full vigor and efficiency. The word breakfast means exactly that — "break the fast."

Foods for Breakfast

Most high-protein foods are rich in thiamine, particularly egg yolk, lean beef and lamb. A splendid energy breakfast is one consisting of fruit (whole or sliced citrus fruits, not the juice alone, melon, berries, pineapple or other fresh or sun-dried fruits), scrambled to which dry skim milk powder and grated cheese have been added for flavor and extra protein, served with a small portion of hot whole grain mush cooked in liquid milk made from powdered non-fat milk and served with honey.

This business of skipping breakfast entirely is an extremely foolish habit for anyone, but more particularly so for the person who wants to encourage his body to remain youthful, strong and vigorous. Many women — men, too — entertain the false idea that by skipping breakfast they will "lose weight."

This reminds me of the nearing-40 wife of a friend of mine. A devotee of the "I must diet," she religiously skips her breakfast every morning, momentarily quieting her rumbling stomach with several cups of strong black coffee

Revitalized Chargers to Meet Eagles in Saturday Pre-Season

Exactly half of the Chargers pre-season home games will be over with the final play against Philadelphia Eagles Saturday night at the S.D. Stadium. Kickoff is 8 p.m.

Those who would see more will have to wait until September 4 when the New York Giants engage the local heroes.

Those who would follow the Chargers as they wend their way through the six pre-season games will have to travel Norman, Oklahoma, Tokyo, and Seattle.

First things first. Philadelphia Coach Dick Vermeil, 39, makes his pro head coaching debut here Saturday. The last game as head coach was with UCLA for its thundering upset of Ohio

State in the Rose Bowl. Vermeil served under Tommy Prothro on his staffs at UCLA and L.A. Rams. One of Vermeil's assistants at Philadelphia is Dick Coury who coached the linebackers at San Diego last year. He is wide receivers coach with the Eagles.

A Touch of Optimism

Head Coach Prothro has expressed a modicum of optimism for the Chargers season. This is a new ingredient for a team that was in complete disarray two years back.

"I hope we're as good as I think we are," he said. "Most of the players have progressed as far as we had hoped. Their demeanor and effort is more than you expect."

One of the reasons for Prothro's outlook is running back Joe Washington, the team's No. 1 draft choice from Oklahoma. Washington is fresh from the College All-Star camp where he captivated coaches and players with his ability.

"He was by far the most outstanding player there," said Washington's fellow Charger all-star Don Macek. "He is an amazing kid. He can run sideways as fast as straight ahead. He was the quickest player on the field and that includes the Steelers."

Washington, Macek and all-star receiver Larry Dorsey will play against the Eagles. They join such other Charger newcomers as receiver Charlie Joiner, an eight-year veteran from the Cincinnati Bengals; linebacker Rick Middleton, a three-year vet and No. 1 draft choice from the New Orleans Saints, and cornerback Tom Hayes, a six-year vet from the Atlanta Falcons and San Diego State.

Rookies to receive praise from Prothro at the UC San Diego training camp include linebacker Woodrow Lowe from Alabama, defensive end John Lee from Nebraska and defensive tackle Charles DeJurnett, a two-year starter for the WFL Sun from San Jose State.

Varsity is Base

But Prothro emphasized that the Chargers will receive their greatest 1976 boost from the improvement of second-year players such as defensive linemen Gary Johnson, Fred Dean and Louis Kelcher, defensive backs Mike Fuller and Mike Williams and running back Rickey Young.

The coach also praised middle linebacker Tom Graham and running back Don Woods, NFL rookie of the year in 1974, who missed most of 1975 because of injury.

"Woods looks better than ever," said Prothro. "He now is a confident veteran."

Woods and Young will start at running backs against the Eagles with Dan Fouts at quarterback. Gary Garrison and Joiner the wide receivers and Pat Curran at tight end.

Saturday night also will mark the debut for two new Charger assistant coaches—offensive coordinator Bill Walsh from Cincinnati Bengals and defensive backfield coach Ernie Zampese from San Diego State.

Chargers ticket number is 280-2111.

Softball Champions

The Turkeys beat the Beavers 9-5 and the Sallies Edged out the Griffettes 16-15 in the semi finals of the Spring Valley Park & Rec. District Women's Softball League play.

Then the Turkeys beat the Sallies 11-4 to win the championship.

In Men's Softball, S.V. Rec beat Coleman 19-2 and Batters beat Nootz 10-8 in semi final play with Rec trouncing Batters 13-4 for the championship.

Ponytail Tournery Set for El Cajon

El Cajon Girls Ponytail League will again host the S.D.S. Cal. Municipal Athletic Federation County Championship tournament.

Tournament play begins tomorrow at American Little League fields, Madison and Mollison avenues. Play will be in four divisions, rookies (ages 7-9); minors (ages 10-12); majors (ages 13-15); and seniors (ages 16-18).

The double elimination tournament will be on July 30, 31 and August 1; August 6, 7 and 8. Games on Fridays will be played at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday schedules will be 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. with action on three fields.

26 teams and 390 girls will participate in the tournament. Teams will represent Escondido, Poway, Mesa Del Sol, Valley Mesa Grove, and El Cajon.

Defending champions are: Rookies — Valley Mesa Grove; Minors — El Cajon; Majors — Mesa Del Sol.

David Love to Fight Middleweight Champ

Middleweight David "Sugar" Love (32-7-4) is scheduled to go against right-hander Willie Monroe, Monday, August 16 in Philadelphia.

Love, of San Diego, is under the management of Angelo Dundee. Monroe is managed by Eddie Futch, former manager-trainer of Ken Norton.

Love, last year, won both the white and the black middleweight championship of South Africa. He beat the white champion Jan Keis on August 23. He beat Elijah Makhathini, the black middleweight champion on June 5 of this year.

Monroe is ranked 5th in the world and first in the United States.

Love anticipates a victory over Monroe will put him well up on the top ten middleweights list.

No Passport

U. S. visitors to Canada are not required to have passports. A proper identification is sufficient.

Oceanside, Cabrillo Handicaps Spotlight Del Mar's Week-end

Many of the West's leading handicap performers will hold the spotlight at Del Mar during the 1976 Thoroughbred racing season's initial weekend when the $20,000-added Oceanside and $25,000-added Cabrillo Handicaps will be featured.

Racing began at Del Mar yesterday with the $25,000-added Palomar Handicap headlining the opening day program of the 43-day summer meeting.

The Oceanside Handicap, which will have its 30th running on Saturday, is contested at the distance of seven and one-half furlongs over the lush infield turf course. Prior to last summer's thrilling renewal in which Willmar survived a hard stretch drive of three rivals to prove victorious, the Oceanside was exclusively for 3-year-olds and run at the sprint route of six furlongs.

A major steppingstone to the $100,000 Del Mar Handicap on Labor Day is the Cabrillo Handicap, which headlines the Sunday racing card. The conditioned stakes events for 3-year-olds and up is staged at the Crosby Course distance of 120 feet less than a mile and one-quarter over the main track. Handicap stars such as Pinjara, Kennedy Road, Imaginative and Eclipse Award winning Cougar II dot the Cabrillo's winner's roster.

Kicking off the first of three weekend stakes is Friday's 22nd edition of the $20,000-added California Thoroughbred Breeders' Assn. Stakes. The test for 2-year-old fillies may lure Debutante hopefuls King's Mink and Dance With Care, both seeking their initial stakes victories for the six-furlong attraction.

Bull Wrestling Added to Sunday Corrida at Beach

Tijuana bullfights move to the beach Sunday and bring with them a thrilling show new to the area.

While a regular corrida is scheduled, the afternoon also will feature two exhibitions by a group of daring Portuguese stuntmen known as Los Forcados, wrestling a bull to a standstill.

The corrida will include horseback bullfighters Pedro Loureiro and Carlos Arruza J. facing one toro each and newcomer Jose Antonio Gaona and Marcos Ortega fighting two each.

For this first 1976 corrida at 4 p.m. in the bullring by the sea, Plaza Monumental de Tijuana, bulls will be from Casa Blanca, the ranch of the arena owner, Major Salvador Lopez Hurtado.

It will be the first Tijuana appearance for the Forcados—the word is related to forked, as well as to gallows — although they are well known in Spain, Mexico City, and of course Portugal.

A different group performed recently in Acapulco. But as soon as the six injured members were released from the hospital they returned to Portugal.

Cyclist to Jump Record 33 Cars

A strong field of drag racers, a star-studded cast of top fuel funny cars, scores of pro comp dragsters, rockets, pro stocks and wheelstanders will make up part of Friday and Saturday night's show at the Orange County International Raceway.

Spotlighted will be a Long Beach young man who will attempt to sail a two-wheeled machine the distance of a football field — over 33 cars. Bob Correll, 28, attached to a hang glider, will make that attempt Saturday night. The present record is 22 cars.

The two-night affair is the Olympia 10th Annual Professional Dragster Assn. Championships. Qualifying events are Friday 4-11 p.m. Saturday at 6 p.m. the first of five 32 car field elimination events gets under way.

Mexican 'Athleticos' In Chollas Park Game

A bicentennial athletic event with an international accent takes place this Saturday when the East San Diego "Big League" Baseball Assn. opposes the touring Club Athleticos of Mexico in a nine inning exhibition contest at 5:30 p.m. at Chollas Park near College Grove Shopping Center.

The host team, comprising numerous Crawford High School varsity members, is sponsored by the Padres, official women's booster club. And with the Padres in the middle of a week-long road trip, the ladies are promoting the youth oriented game with great vigor.

"We're proud of our kids and hope a lot of true baseball fans will attend this affair," said Padre president Betty Hambley. "The Athleticos (athletics) are a very special team and with San Diego so close to the border, we consider this our local contribution to our nation's 200th anniversary."

The Athleticos tour against high school teams from California, Nevada and Arizona during the spring, but play almost exclusively in Mexico during the summer months. The Mexican team opens its regular season in February against Garfield High School in East Los Angeles.

The Madre's club, like the visitors, range between 16-18 years of age. Admission to the game is free.

Padre manager John McNamara. "We'll have 16 games in that period and 11 of them will be against Houston and Atlanta, the two clubs we are battling at the moment for third place.

The Houston Factor

"Houston appears to be the strongest competition right now so those seven games, could be the deciding factor when it's all said and done come October 3," reflected McNamara.

The Padres will really have to do some fast shuffling during the latter stages of the road trip as the team will be faced with two doubleheaders in four days, one in Cincinnati ti and the other in Atlanta.

"We've struggled a bit with our pitching rotation and this situation is going to tax us a bit," explained the Padres manager. "Right now I'm not certain how we'll handle it, but we'll have to dip heavily into the bullpen to come up with the arms to see us through that six games in four days period."

To make matter a little worse for the Padres, not only will the pitching be heavily taxed, but the club as a whole will have to go through the tough period with little rest as San Diego is in the midst of a string of 27 straight games without a break.

Minoso, Boone, Robinson, Maloney to Join Old Timers

The roster of stars from the past who will be participating in the annual Old-Timers Game for the San Diego Padres on Saturday, August 7, has grown by four with the addition of American League hitters Minnie Minoso, Ray Boone and Floyd Robinson and National League pitcher Jim Maloney.

Topping the list of new American League recruits for manager Al Lopez's force is outfielder Minnie Minoso. A 15-year major league veteran, Minoso's career was about as long as his full name — Saturnino Orestes Arrieta Armas Minoso. He broke into the majors in 1949 and put together a career which saw him play for the Cleveland Indians (1949, 1951, 1958-59), Chicago White Sox (1951-57, 1960-61, 1964), St. Louis Cardinals (1962) and Washington Senators (1963).

The 53-year-old Minoso, presently a coach with the Chicago White Sox, was tabbed as the Rookie of the Year by The Sports News in 1951 thanks to a .326 batting average plus leading the A.L. with 31 stolen bases and 14 triples. He went on to hit .300 or better eight times with bests of .326 in that rookie year, .320 in 1954 and .316 in 1956.

Stolen Bases

He topped the A.L. in stolen bases his first three full seasons in the league (1951 — 31, 1952 — 22 and 1953 — 25) and was one of the top extra base hit men early in his career, winning three A.L. triples titles and one in doubles.

Eleven straight seasons (1951-61) he collected 145 or more hits and four times he knocked in 100 or more runs with a high of 116 in 1954. An eight-time All-Star selection (6-20-300), he finished with a lifetime mark of .299 with 1962 hits, 1923 RBI and 205 stolen bases.

Backing him up in providing the A.L. some fire power are outfielder Floyd Robinson and third baseman Ray Boone.

Robinson, 40, played nine seasons in the majors with the Chicago White Sox (1960-66), Cincinnati Reds (1967), Oakland A's (1968) and Boston Red Sox (1968). He wound up with a .283 average with 929 hits and 426 runs batted in.

He was one of the most consistent hitters in the American League in the early 1960's. Robinson hit .310 in 1961, .312 in 1962 and .301 in 1964, finishing third and fifth in the batting race in the latter two campaigns. That 1962 season was his biggest as, apart from finishing third in batting, he led the league in doubles (45) and was fourth in RBI (109) plus he collected 187 hits.

Local Player

An east San Diego product, Boone had a 13-year major league career with the Cleveland Indians (1948-53), Detroit Tigers (1953-58), Chicago White Sox (1958-59), Kansas City A's, (1959), Milwaukee Braves (1959-60) and Boston Red Sox (1960). His career batting average was .275.

A two-time A.L. All-Star choice, the 53-year-old Boone had top seasons of .308 in 1956 and .301 in 1960 and in 1955 he led the league with 116 runs batted in while starring for the Tigers. Boone also came close to that magic .300 circle on two other occasions, hitting .296 in 1953 and .295 in 1954.

Balancing off this power, at least manager Bobby Bragan hopes so, will be 12-year veteran Jim Maloney. The 36-year-old righthander spent all but one year of his career with the Cincinnati Reds (1960-70) as he wound up with the California Angels in 1971.

Maloney finished his career with a fine record of 134-84, 3.19 with 1,605 strikeouts and 30 shutouts. His best efforts were in 1963 when he went 23-7, 2.77 and 1965 when he was 20-9, 2.54. Six times he won 15 or more games in a season and he chalked up eight years with 100 or more strikeouts including four years with more than 200 with a high of 265 in 1963.

He made his biggest mark in 1969 when he tossed a no-hitter at the Houston Astros as the Reds beat them 10-0 on April 30 of that year.

Wedding Spurs Beecroft In Cajon Speedway Race

Two Lemon Grove racers battled it out Saturday night at the Cajon Speedway but Gary Beecroft, 30, had an added incentive — he is a bridegroom-to-be.

Beecroft proceeded to arrive at the checkered flag position 20 lengths ahead of Lanny Pemberton, the Lemon Grove racer who is leading points winner in spite of the loss.

Beecroft's wedding is scheduled for Saturday morning and it is not known if it was arranged so as not to interfere with his speedway schedule.

But win he did, and he now ranks 7th in point standings. Following point-leader Pemberton is Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley who is third. But he is only 10 points ahead of 4th place and 10 points each separate 5th and 6th places, so it is safe to assume that there could be a wholesale turnover in places 3, 4, 5, and 6 in a race.

Saturday's card — the 15th of the season — includes a 40-lap main; 4-lap trophy dash for the four fastest qualifiers; four 8-lap heats; a 10-lap semi main and a 10-lap powder puff event.

First event Saturday at the 3/8-mile oval is 8 p.m.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

You had to see it to believe it. Three stalwart citizens of the community bumping and grinding in sincere efforts to the strains of classic Hawaiian Hula.

This semi-suspect scene came in full view of nearly 1,200 patrons, dignitaries and junior golfers at the 9th annual Junior World Golf Classic "Welcome Banquet" at the Hilton on Monday last.

The occasion was the 10th anniversary of the Hawaiian Junior Golf program and Bobby Tom, the leader of that fine collection, provided the entertainment, dessert, fruits and flowers for the Junior World get together. That's how it started.

As usual with such attractions, the lovely ladies of the Hawaiian dancing line went into the crowd to pick a few unexpected, but not really unwilling male partners to add zest to the proceedings.

One sweet young thing grabbed a visiting foreign player and another layed onto a righteous parent. But the other three sweet-pies threw caution to the winds and nabbed as fine a collection of untalented hula swingers as ever popped a hip to an island drum beat.

Hal Tebbetts, well known attorney and golf aficionado about town, made an almost brilliant try at swinging his buttocks to an island beat. But unfortunately, as an attorney, Hal's best means of communication is by the end-less spoken word.

Don Makie, the head of San Diego City's Fish and Chips (Lakes and golf) Division of the Recreation Department, was another willing, though untalented partner. He gave 110 per cent, but Don's effort at hula-hula was about equal to Grandma in a rocker listening to Lawrence Welk play an old smoothy.

The piece de resistance, everyone in attendance agreed, was Mr. Sports, himself, Big Al Couppee, the Master of Ceremonies for the evening, swing and sway his huge contribution in the Hawaiian way.

Big Al brings elements to dancing the hula that were hardly expected by the sweet young things that practice the art. Al proved very big at hula.

To show his versatility, as soon as Coup got his second wind, he rattled through the list of PGA Section winners and foreign players as each was introduced to the huge crowd. Al was never better than in tackling the proper sounds and vowels of youngsters from such widely separated states as Bolivia and Belgium, Uruguay and Samoa, Australia, Japan, Taiwan and the Philippines.

And Coup hit most of 'em right on the button, everybody from Argentina to Zambia, with side trips to the Panama Canal Zone, Colombia, Israel, Sweden, Mexico and Canada.

There are 648 golfers testing the fairways and greens of five different courses in four age groups in this year's Junior World tourney.

The 10 and unders are swinging away at Presidio Hills, the 11 and 12 crowd are teeing up at Mission Bay, while the 13 and 14 year olds are plying their efforts at Balboa Park. Play in these divisions will close out Thursday afternoon, at the end of 54 holes.

The 15 through 17 players go the whole route to a 72 hole finish, with a winner in both boys and girls competition being crowned after Friday's play.

Galleries are not allowed for the three younger divisions, but fans and folks are welcome and invited out to Torrey Pines for the seniors players. The girls test the north course for the first three rounds, then join the boys on the difficult south course for the finals.

San Diego's Junior World Golf classic is the largest individual golf tournament in the world, hosting players from 28 countries, and that's more states than were represented in the recent British Open.

The PGA has recognized the San Diego Junior World as its best course in promoting youth golf and holds qualification eliminations in PGA sections across the country. The Southern Illinois section, as an example, hosted 101 youngsters in its qualifier. And that's a bunch of teens.

Get out and take a look at history in the making. Junior World Golf is bringing people from many nations together in the true spirit of sportsmanship. And the thrill of being a part of it is knowing that it's all worth the effort. The seeds sown here in San Diego this week may blossom into peace in the world for 1,000 years.

And knowing that is more than enough to make Big Al Couppee dance the hula.

New State Warrants To Resemble Checks

One change that is being made in Sacramento this year will cut the cost-of-doing-business for the state.

State Controller Ken Cory said that payment warrants will be printed on paper instead of lightweight cardboard.

The savings, he said, will be $84,000.

Cory said the State warrants, over 12 million a year, will remain the same size, shape, color and design.

"The warrants now will be printed on the same grade paper as commercial bank checks instead of the lightweight cardboard which has been used for many years to accommodate the hole-punch coding required for mechanical reading of the warrants when they are returned for payment," Cory said.

"The hole-punch coding is no longer necessary since the returned warrants now are read by a magnetic ink character-recognition process provided by the State Treasurer. There is no cost difference in the two processes, but the cost difference between paper and cardboard is considerable."

The new paper warrants first were used for State Income Tax refunds and resulted in some inquiries from recipients and banks who wanted to be sure they were valid.

A Look at Past Issues

Back Pages

A look at the pages of this newspaper twenty years ago reveals some of the interesting contrasts between then and now. This column highlights some of the items that appeared in this newspaper at this time two decades ago.

By Bruce Binkowski

The 16th annual Rodeo Fiesta was termed a "huge success." The event was held on a Saturday-Sunday at St. John of the Cross Catholic Church the last week of July, 1956. The two-day attendance figure was in excess of 5,000. The program was sponsored by the Junior and Senior Chamber of Commerce of Lemon Grove and the parish of St. John of the Cross.

Coyote were raising havoc with chicken raisers in the Spring Valley area. State Rodent Control officers set up several coyote traps to catch the animals following complaints by local residents.

A trap was set near Rogers road and Campo road and within several days a dog, cat, and a skunk were caught by the trap but no coyote. Moving into the month of August, 20 years ago, plans were still in operation to capture the poaching coyote.

Fire School Starts

The San Diego County Office of Fire Services announces that an introduction to fire science course will be offered at three junior colleges this fall. The deadline for application at Grossmont College is August 4.

The course, which is the only prerequisite to further studies in fire science, is also being offered at Palomar College, where the registration deadline is September 8, and at Miramar College, where registration deadline is August 20.

The introductory course is open to everyone but is accentuated toward giving those who work in fire services a well-rounded background in their profession.

The Lemon Grove Little League was officially established two decades back with four major league and eight minor league teams. The first president of the organization was William Allen.

Watermelon was selling at bargain basement prices in area stores. Prices of 2½ cents per pound were advertised in the Review/Bulletin.

The State of California allocated $450,000 for the building of a new junior high school that was to be located at the east end of Palm street. The school, Palm Junior High, was built with ten class rooms able to accommodate 300 students. The planned opening of the new structure was scheduled for September, 1957.

3 Spring Valley Burglaries Listed

Three daytime burglaries were reported within an hour-and-a-half in Spring Valley on July 20.

When Margaret R. F. Milligan returned to her home at 3745 Andreen st. in Spring Valley at 4:30 p.m., she found a burglar entered through a rear window.

Loot was in cash and jewelry with a value of $115, sheriff's deputies reported.

Rogers Road
A burglar entered the residence of Gene Holland at 3951 Rogers rd., Spring Valley while he was away, Holland told police at 4 p.m.

A man's Jacksonville High School ring and a turquoise ring with a turtle motif were taken. The thief also took 60 silver dollars and $100 in currency. He assessed his loss at more than $350.

The burglar entered through a bedroom window after cutting a screen.

Whiskey Gone
The bottom section of a sliding glass door was broken by a burglar who took $35 in cash, a bracelet, hunting knife, fishing reel and two fifths of whiskey from the residence of John Nelson Joy while he was away.

Joy reported at 5:30 p.m. that his loss was about $100 but the repair on the glass door will add to it.

He lives at 807 Paraiso ave., Spring Valley.

Checklist Can Relieve That Vacation Worry

Will you go on vacation and spend nights worrying about your home and the water you left running, or the back door someone forgot to lock?

Rest easy, a cure has been found.

Mitchell Mohr, president, Mitchell Mohr Real Estate, has devised a check list for homeowners to follow before going on that long-awaited and well-deserved vacation.

"Most homeowners feel their neighborhood is secure and free from robbery or vandalism. However, even the safest and well patrolled areas are subject to break-ins, and every homeowner should take every possible precaution to protect his property," Mohr said.

The following checks are suggested for a worry-free vacation.

...Leave the phone number of the intended vacation spot and the date of return with a neighbor or relative.

...Leave the house key with a neighbor or friend. Ask them to make a house check while you are away; to take care of those small emergencies such as closing a window, or feeding junior's forgotten hamster.

...Cancel newspapers before leaving and alert the post office to hold all your mail until your return.

...Ask a neighbor boy to pick up any advertising circulars from your front yard.

...Turn off the water at the valve next to your water meter.

...Time switches may be purchased that will automatically turn on the lights for a few hours in the evening to give the impression someone is home.

...Mohr offers one final tip: "Be sure your mortgage payment does not lapse while you are away."

Beer Taxes Paid

California drinkers paid more than $140 million in beer taxes during the first six months of 1976.

Consumption of beer in the state for the half-year period was 7.7 million barrels, up about 4½% over the same period a year ago.

On that volume, the federal excise tax of $9 per barrel amounted to $69.3 million.

The state excise tax of $1.24 per barrel amounted to $9.55 million, while the 6% sales tax totalled $43 million.

In addition, indirect taxes of $19 million were imposed on brewers, wholesalers and retailers.

TWO FIRES caused heavy damage last week in Lemon Grove. Most serious was the Anthony Conforte home on Church st. Fire gutted the home Thursday night, causing $35,000 damage. The second came Friday afternoon when a brush fire burned a canyon west of Skyline dr. near Sanford. Flames crept onto the doorstep of Craig Lake's home at 1524 Skyline.

Church St. Home Gutted by Fire

Fire destroyed the home of Anthony Conforte at 7530 Church st. Thursday evening last week.

Conforte, an employee at Alpha Beta supermarket, was returning home from work when firemen responded to the call shortly after 10 p.m.

Thinking his wife and two young daughters were trapped inside, he had to be restrained by firemen from entering the burning home.

Wife Linda, and daughters Cheryl 5, and Susan, 3, had escaped earlier without injury. The blaze began in a remodeled back room, said Lemon Grove Fire Captain John Ott, in charge of investigation. Laquered wood paneling helped spread it quickly into the adjoining dining room and kitchen.

Damage was estimated at $35,000. The heat was so intense, Captain Ott said, that window glass and aluminum frames melted.

Phone Directory Information to Remain Free

The State Public Utilities Commission recently rejected Pacific Telephone's proposals for directory assistance charges for normal residential and business uses.

That proposal would have allowed both business and residence customers a limit of three free directory assistance calls a month, with charges of 20 cents for each call over the allowance.

The PUC earlier severed the directory assistance charge plans from the current PT&T $119 million rate increase application and said it would treat the issue separately. The investigation, they said, would be expanded to include its applicability to the other 28 telephone companies operating within California.

So, the current policy of unlimited free directory information continues for all Pacific Telephone customers.

The PUC has approved the phone company's Single Measured Rate Timing (SMRT), which went into effect June 28 for business subscribers and residents on either the 30 or 60 call limited services.

Those callers are charged a message unit for each of the five minutes they are on the phone.

When the units, rather than the phone calls, total more than the monthly allowance, 5 cents is levied for each additional five-minute unit.

In its interim opinion, the PUC clarified how it proposes to explore the directory assistance charge plan for all of the telephone companies in the state.

Not Extreme Abuse

"We do not regard ordinary residential or business use of directory assistance to fall within that category (of extreme abuse), particularly in view of the high turnover of telephone subscriptions, the large percentage of unlisted numbers, and the multiplicity of telephone directories within single area codes," the PUC declared.

The Commission said it felt that the use of directory assistance to obtain up-to-date, accurate listings for subscribers who may not have a current listing in the directory "is fully legitimate" and should continue to be available without charge.

"We do not feel that it would serve the public interest to investigate in full detail proposals which would impose a charge on such legitimate use or which would require an elaborate and expensive administrative mechanism to identify users who do not have available a current telephone directory . . . or who may not be able to read the small type in the directory," the PUC said.

The order instituting the investigation, the PUC concluded, will "be limited to such abusive practices as routine use of directory assistance for credit investigation rather than for the purpose of placing a telephone call, or persistent use of directory assistance service in extreme disproportion to a customer's legitimate needs.

"To the extent that proposed Directory Assistance Charge Plans do not conform to the criteria set forth here, they are dismissed."

High Mobility

In issuing the interim order, the PUC said it considered a number of factors. It said that a high degree of transiency appears to exist among both residential and business telephone customers in California metropolitan areas.

It cited an exhibit presented by a public witness at hearings earlier this year, which consisted of a yellow page from the North San Diego County telephone directory featuring an advertisement for Yellow Page business.

The ad was titled "Southern California Customers Move Frequently. — Make It Easy For Them to Find You Fast" and points out:

"Your market is constantly changing. The mass movement of people within the state of California was never more dramatically illustrated than seeing what takes place on a single page of the alphabetical directory.

"On one page (selected at random) there were: 93 new listings, 36 listing changes, 50 completely removed, 179 total changes."

The population of the directory area was estimated in the ad as 332,635 and there were 314 white pages in the directory.

"Assuming the page that was selected for the advertisement is typical, then this area alone, which is by no means the largest or most transient area in the state, experienced over 56,000 telephone number changes in one year, in an area much smaller in population than California's large urban areas," the Commission noted.

By their action, the Commission killed the proposal to charge customers 20 cents for ordinary, legitimate use of directory assistance beyond the three-call allowance. Directory assistance will remain free for the normal purpose of checking on the most current listing of a telephone number, they ruled.

In many areas of California, the PUC said, the only alternative to using directory assistance is obtaining a half-dozen or more telephone directories.

Charging for legitimate use of directory assistance would be the same as charging once for the telephone call and again for the dial tone, said PUC Commissioner Leonard Ross.

The PUC staff will now concentrate its study on management efficiency, phantom taxes — taxes which the phone companies do not now have to pay and which they may never have to pay, but which they charge to customers anyway — and alleged widespread illegal monitoring of telephone conversations.

If You Believe You've Been Cheated

This column features a series of consumer protection advisories prepared as a public service by the California Trial Lawyers Association to warn consumers of some of the hazards of business dealings.

Consumers are urged to write CTLA for their Consumer Protection Pamphlet which tells "How Not to Be Cheated and Who to Contact If You Are."

Credit Reporting

A person who makes application to a creditor for the extension of credit for personal family or household purposes — as opposed to a business — can obtain information on his credit rating if he follows certain procedures and certain prerequisites are met.

The usual source of the information will be a "reporter," a person or corporation who provides a customer with credit information or a credit rating concerning a consumer applying to that customer for credit.

There are various businesses and corporations throughout California that specialize in keeping credit information to provide their customers (generally retail businesses) with credit background on the person seeking credit from the retailer.

Any person who has made application to a creditor (a retailer selling items for personal family or household purposes to the consumer) can obtain the following information upon request and presentation of proper identification:

1. The type and substance of all information contained in the reporter's files at the time of the request.
2. The various sources of the information. That is, the people or companies who have furnished this credit information to the credit rating agency.
3. The names of the various creditors to whom the reporting service has furnished reports within a six-month period immediately before the request is made by the consumer.

The consumer can obtain this information either in person, over the telephone, or in writing as long as certain procedures are followed.

If the consumer desires to appear personally at the credit rating agency, the consumer should give reasonable notice to the reporting agency and also make sure that the personal appearance is made during normal business hours.

The disclosure of the information can be made over the telephone if the consumer has previously made a written request for the information and also provides the reporting agency with permission to charge all telephone calls to the consumer himself.

Tape to Encourage Look in Book

When callers dial Directory Assistance (411) early next month, they'll get an operator but only after a recorded voice first suggests using the phone book.

The pre-recorded hint is part of Pacific Telephone's program to cut down the increasing number of 411 calls, according to Pac Tel general manager E. J. Brunick.

Pacific Telephone recently failed in another attempt to affect information call reductions when the Public Utilities in use," he said.

Brunick said the announcement will be introduced in San Diego County August 2nd.

The tape is directed to callers who are able to look up a number in the phone book, but are too lazy to do so.

The message: "If you've checked your directory and are unable to find the number you wish, please stay on the line and a Directory Assistant will be able to help you."

The recorded message "is Commission denied the phone company the privilege of charging for the calls, doing the job for us elsewhere in the state where it's already an operator will answer. Thank you."

A "few seconds" later, an operator will pick up the call.

The recording has reduced the number of calls for information from 20 to 40 per cent in other parts of the state, Pac Tel officials claim.

The message reduced information service 25% when it was introduced in Sacramento in January and in Los Angeles in June.

Brunick said he anticipates similar reductions in San Diego County where operators handle 180,000 calls a day.

The phone company claims that no one will lose his job as a result of the drive to reduce directory calls.

"We'll make adjustments through transfers, attritions and reassignments," Brunick said. No layoffs will result from the workload reduction, he said.

Pacific Telephone expects to reduce the size of its force of operators and save about $3.6 million a year in the county.

Consumer Dept. Favors Used Car Warranty

The Department of Consumer Affairs supports Assembly Bill 651, a proposed law which would require a warranty on used cars sold for more than $1,000.

Under the provisions of the bill, used car dealers selling a car for an amount in excess of $1,000, would be required to provide the purchaser with a minimum warranty. This would warrant the vehicle to be free from mechanical defects for sixty days or 2,000 miles, whichever occurs first.

During the term of the warranty the dealer would be required to make all necessary repairs to correct mechanical defects.

The bill also states that a dealer may provide a defect disclosure notice which describes mechanical defects which are excluded from the required minimum warranty.

When a dealer provides a purchaser with a defect disclosure notice a written estimate from a registered repair shop of the cost to repair the defects excluded from the warranty must also be provided.

The Department held a number of public hearings during the summer of 1975 to obtain information about used car warranty practices. The testimony revealed that consumer problems exist in this area, in particular a misunderstanding of the terms of the warranty.

L.G. Pillow Case Burglar Loots Home of $4,520

Between the hours of 1:30 and 5:30 on July 20, the home of Sylvester James Andrews was burglarized of items valued at $4,520.

The Andrews, who live at 7376 Central ave., Lemon Grove, reported that their home had been ransacked by a burglar who entered through a rear kitchen door by cutting the screen.

Mrs. Andrews said her husband had locked the house as he left at 1:30. When she got home at 5:30 the thief had made his haul which included an antique gramophone, assorted sterling silver flatware, a portable tv and speakers, stereo and turntable, a coffee can filled with coins; a $100 savings bond, a green tool box containing a coin collection, and some wedding and diamond rings.

Two pillow cases were missing — these presumably were used to carry away the loot.

Drivers of 85 per cent of all vehicles exceed the limit.

"We have Special Enforcement Units" (SEU) working Lemon Grove and other communities to get the average speed nearer the limit," he said. SEU is also attuned to drunk driving. Last year 122,000 persons were arrested for drunk driving in California.

Price noted that 50 per cent of all accidents and deaths were attributable to drinking drivers.

Drunk drivers should be reported in the interest of highway safety, he said. The toll-free number to report such driving is Zenith 1-2000.

Ed's Note:

Here's a hypothetical note left for his live-in lady as seen by a letters-to-the editor contributor:

"Darling:

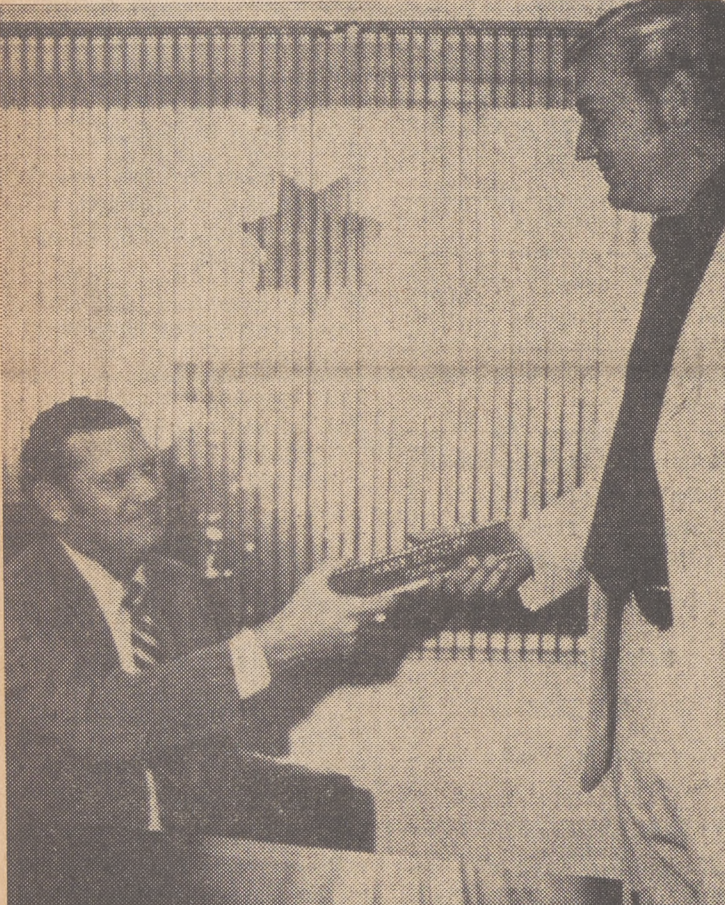

I'll run over and pick up my unemployment check, then go over to the U. and see what's holding up my check on my federal education grant, and then pick up our food stamps.

"Meanwhile, you go to the free VD clinic and check on your tests, then pick up my new glasses at the health center, and then go to the Welfare Department to try to increase our eligibility limit again.

"Later we'll meet at the Federal Building for the mass demonstration against the stinking, rotten establishment.

"Last but not least, let us thank our grand jury together with three of our liberal county supervisors for their recommendation to provide us with our daily fix of heroin, proving that life can be beautiful."

COMMAND CHANGES — Sheriff's Captain George Dodson hands the desk identification plaque to Captain Hank Schilpp as the command changes at the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office. Captain Dodson, patrol lieutenant at Lemon Grove, was promoted to his new rank earlier this month. Capt. Schilpp, officer in charge at the Lemon Grove office for the past year-and-a-half, will go to the Sheriff's central office where he will be in charge of detectives. The changeover takes effect Monday.

Local Tourists Not Drawn By Bicentennial Pilgrimage

Figures released by the Southern California Visitors Council show that, for the first four months of the bicentennial year, tourists have not turned their backs on the 13-county Southland region.

Southern California attracted 2,680,048 visitors from other states and countries during the first four months, up 15.3 per cent from the corresponding period of 1975, the Visitor's Council reported.

"More people are traveling this year than ever before, due in part to the stabilization of the economy," said William Brotherton, managing director. "In addition, scare stories of over-crowding in the Bicentennial cities of the East may be influencing many vacationers to think West."

The SCVC's figures show

auto arrivals for the first four months up 18 per cent above the same period of 1975, with a 13.8 per cent increase for airline arrivals. "Vacationers are reverting to the passenger car as they become confident of the availability of gasoline," Brotherton explained.

Planes still carry the majority of out-of-state vacationers to Southern California (58.2 per cent), as compared with 38.8 per cent for automobiles. The bus share is 2.4 per cent and railroads account for 0.1 per cent.

A shift toward automobile travel is common during the summer months.

"Summer is traditionally the time of family vacations, and passenger car traffic has always increased proportionately during the second and third quarters," he explained.

While vacation arrivals rose by more than 15 per cent for the first four months of the year, hotel and motel occupancy rates increased by less than half that figure — or some six percentage points. Brotherton attributed the disparity to a growing national trend for vacationers to cut expenses and prolong vacations by staying with friends and relatives along the way.
